

The Sea The Sea

Peggy Sue

You take my bones and you build a house of your own now
You take my bones and you build a house of your own now
You take my bones and you build a house of your own now
You take my bones and you build a house of your own now

I'll build you a body from this beach with driftwood for bones and shells for teeth
I'll build you a body from this shore
With flotsam for flesh and jetsam for jaws
Mussels for muscles and oysters for eyes
Seaweed for sinew and a crown
Made of...
Mussels for muscles and oysters for eyes
Seaweed for sinew and a crown

You take my bones and you build a house of your own now
You take my bones and you build a house of your own now
You take my bones and you build a house of your own now
You take my bones and you build a house of your own now

The sea, the sea flows for me
There are serpents lurking in the deep
The sea, the sea flows for me
The sea, the sea flows for me
There are serpents lurking in this deep
