

Frozen Heart

Pentakill

Up here on the roof of the world
Up here on the roof of the world

Long have we sought to ascend this place
A life of servitude to omens
The elders have promised us long before
With evil banished to the wastelands
Hands of the chosen will extend to us

Upon the roof of this world
Distant voices calling for the final fight
We will answer with victory

Long have we fought for these lands
In the shadows and the stories of the promised light
Now to take our place beyond

Up here on the roof of the world
Up here on the roof of the world
Where we are sworn to guard no more
Up here on the roof of the world

Long have we fought to protect this place
These haunted dreams never ending
Clinching to the promises of life reborn

Upon the roof of this world
Distant voices calling for the final fight
We will answer with victory

Long have we fought for these lands
In the shadows and the stories of the promised light
Now to take our place beyond

Here on the roof of the world
In the cradle of the storms
Where vengeful winds cut to the bone
And there's no turning back

(Here on the roof of the world)
(Here on the roof of the world)
(Here on the roof of the world)

Up here on the roof of the world
Up here on the roof of the world
Where we are sworn to guard no more
Up here on the roof of the world
