

War and hate... Both are inside you
They came to you, don't say it's untrue
Can you still embrace?
And can you not regress?
Life is simply an affair
Where we have nothing to share

Never, ever, nowhere I have dreamt before
My speeches had no value a vapid blow
I hear once more: Life has just begun
I will never see the Sun, I know I'll miss the storm my glow
I feed on black emotions not to lay on this floor

Do God and his court say to you
That dreams are the path to go through
Do you feel alive
Without a dream to fly?
Your tears remain in the air
Only retained by your scare

I'm apart, I feel and float like a feather
My heart is ripping, giving a sense to this black hole
I'm not aligned, I'm out of time
It tends to burn me until I join the night
I can only stop crying when the rain falls

No witch is burning within you
You're just part of a seedy crew
The world is fool
The world is cruel
Can you dream when you know it
When your mind is now unfit

To depart from death? A joke, I await her
The art of fake has become for me a freezing call
I'm not designed for the sublime
Dreams make people grow, keep me away from light
I begin to breathe only when the night falls