

Sorrow

Penumbra

We were one with our universe
Angels on their knees
What we've done
It was for an us
Our dreams became real

I held your hand, caressed your hair through the Sun lights
We fell asleep, lied on the sand
Listening to the wind, its nice melody

You opened, you opened your eyes
Then I told: You are my treasure, the color of my life
We lived an undying love

I never trusted love
Promises were the main rulers
They have failed
And lies have arisen such as some spines
In one day, all has gone away
Now I know some words can reveal

Join me for a dance till the dawn
Deep in my eyes
Rise up, break the chains
Deep in my mind, and your pain will fade away

Entwined together now
I'll never let you down
Entwined together now
(The most beautiful mind)
I discovered in a glance the deepest essence of my fantasy
(The most beautiful mind)

You opened, you opened your heart
And I found its magnificence and its benevolence shined
We lived an undying love

The time had stopped
And we glowed with the light

When our bodies have merged into one
I lost the reason
Looking at the forces beyond us
It should last forever

My existence, now in your hands
Has enjoyed a new revival
(It should last forever)
Share my secrets, make them alive
You've turned my grief into delight
(It should last forever)
I'd crawl
I'd fall without you
I know
You know I'd love you forever

When our bodies have touched in kissing

When our spirits have merged into one
Looking at the forces beyond us
It should last forever
When our bodies have touched in kissing
When our spirits have merged into one
Looking at the forces beyond us
It should last forever