

Underworld

Penumbra

Below the darkest valley of hate
A growl speaks to me, I can't resist
The wind is slow in my back
And in my neck it slips
I can feel anything
Except what the nature gives

Look, look at all the trees
Last night they trembled in fear
As if to catch your pain
And to penetrate your brain
Were you still in love with me?

Just behind you
It's falling around
You'll never be able to come back
You will follow
An apparent shine
But the price will be tears and cries

Behold my soul, my mind, they dissipate
The fall, the fall will be my new quest
I don't suffer any lack
Of love, just treachery
Rain draws a blurry ring
I have no one to forgive

Feel, feel the stroke of breeze
Last night it appeared for thee
To help you feel prepared
To only caress the air
You'll forget the heat of skin

Just bow down
You'll never be crowned
A ship can only follow and whine
You may allow
The others to smile
But your peers will only address lies

Run, fly, go now
You know that a fall can bring light
When lies act as the mad and angry guides
Hear it, feel it, keep it in mind
Hear it, feel it, keep it in mind

I'll never want to wear a collar again
I just want to scream my fury
And find my own and dreamlike underworld
To accept my bestiality

Just behind (you)
It's falling around
You'll never be able to come back
You will follow
An apparent shine
But the price will be tears and cries

Just behind, it's falling around
You will follow a false shine