

Same Place Different View

Perrie

You can spend your whole life
Calling rainy days a burden
You can blame the world around you
For the reason that you're hurting
Point the finger at me
Saying I'm an evil person
But I was only trying to help you out
So, tell me, how's that working?

Say you'll change
When will you mean it?
It's always
A stormy season

Time and time I've tried and tried to see the best in you
But no use
When you see my red as blue
We're on different pages, so there's nothing I can do
Me and you
In the same place, different view (Mm, oh)

If you open your eyes
You'll see I was always hoping
That one day you would come to find
My arms are always open
Now I see my own side
You held a mirror to my feeling
I wish you never left me here
Dancing with your demons

Say you'll change
When will you mean it?
It's always
A stormy season

Time and time I've tried and tried to see the best in you
But no use
When you see my red as blue
We're on different pages, so there's nothing I can do
Me and you
In the same place, different view

Maybe one day we'll make it better
Maybe one day we'll stand together
Maybe one day we'll share the same
One day we'll share the same
Maybe one day we'll make it better
Maybe one day we'll stand together
I hope one day we'll share the same
One day we'll share the same view
