

Darkness and Fire

Pertness

The morning mist over the hill lies there to rest silent and still

Before the fight begins and drives the mist away

Roars of thunder drone into the silence fall blow up to dust father death you call

Hail Mary full of grace take us away from here

Darkness and fire, dust in the wind louder than thunder, louder than hell Swallowed by the black clouds lost on the hill brave and proud we never run away

Dirt, bits of rock dash us to the ground forever we are lost in stone fetters bound we're waiting for the end the time has come right now
