

You're So Clever

Pete Townshend

You're so clever, so smooth and debonair.
You're so clever and you never seem to have a care.
You groove unflustered by storms or humid, sticky weather.
Oh, you're so clever, oh.

You're so flippanant, Mmmm a thousand in the red
You're so extant, snap your finger and the light for my cigaret te.
I feel impusted by your charm when we're together.
Oh, you're so clever, oh yeah.

I mean it, you're so perfect.
You always choose the red wine.
I seen you on the dance floor
And you keep such perfect time.
There's no one I want but you, I mean forever
I mean forever, you're so clever.

Mean it, oh, you're a genesis
Everything that ever gets me hot
I'm reeling, you cause my nemesis
You're everything I want and all I'm not
There's no one I want but you and I mean forever
I mean forever, you're so clever, oh.

You're so open
So straight but never plain
So gently spoken, I'm not joking
Your smile could stop the rain
I'm going to muster strength and chase you bare for leather
You're so clever, oh, yeah.

You, you're so clever.
Yes, you, you're so clever.
Yes, you, you're so clever.
Yes, you, you're so clever.