

After the Love

Peter Andre

I tried to write a song and, it started with a verse
To explain how I'm feeling, but couldn't find the words
Been trying so hard for so long
But I can't find a way out this place that I'm in
You don't know how I'm feeling, 'coz baby if you did
You wouldn't turn your back and, say we should call it quits
'Coz I'm still trying to hold on
But I can't find out this place we're in

'Coz we both (we both know), that it's time (to let go)
So why do I just keep holding on?
And if you still care, you still would be there
After the love's dead and gone

So call the DJ baby turn the radio on
After the love's dead and gone
Hit the replay button on your favorite song
After the love's dead and gone

Now we're in the same predicament, that we said we'd never be Back here again as we're breaking our hearts
With endless fights & arguments, baby this just isn't me
And you've seemed to change now we're falling apart

'Coz we both (we both know), that it's time (to let go)
So why do I just keep holding on?
And if you still care, you still would be there
After the love's dead and gone

So call the DJ baby turn the radio on
After the love's dead and gone
Hit the replay button on your favorite song
After the love's dead and gone

No matter where you go
You'll always be a part of me no matter the distance
A thousand miles or more
You'll always be a part of me no matter the distance
And if the sun don't shine (baby through the rain)
You know your heart's still mine
And now the clouds are grey (baby through the rain)
We'll slowly drift away

So call the DJ baby turn the radio on
After the love's dead and gone
Hit the replay button on your favorite song
After the love's dead and gone
