

Stop and Listen

Peter Broderick

You can only be as happy as the world that you live in And the world'll surely tell you how she's feelin' if you liste n

You can listen with your eyes, you can listen with your nose
You could probably even listen with your elbows, I suppose But you can only be as healthy as the world that you live in And the world is gonna tell you how she's feelin' if you just s top and listen

You can only be as happy as the organs in your body So take care of all your parts 'cause they're the only ones you got-y

Take care of you liver and take care of your spleen They say appendixes don't have a purpose but I just think that's mean

And you can only be as healthy as the organs in your body So take care of all those organs 'cause you know that they're t he only ones you got-y

And you can only be as happy as your friends and your family

So quit actin' like you don't need 'em and start to give a damn-ly

Give a damn about your sister, give a damn about your dad Give a damn about your dog when you can tell he's feelin' sad
'Cause you can only be as healthy as your friends and your fami

So quit actin' like you don't need 'em and show 'em that you're really give a damn-ly

And the world'll surely tell you how she's feelin' if you liste

You can listen with your brain, you can listen with your heart And you might just start to wish that you'd been listenin' from the start

And you can only be as healthy as the world that you live in And the world is gonna tell you how she's feelin' if you just s top

And listen
