

Take Me Back

Peter Broderick

Twice I break the chain
I struggle to explain
Why in God's name can't my mind just stay the same
To avoid all this unnecessary change

With a little luck
She sees the good in me
Even when I can't
Down on my knees
The only way to say please

Take me back
Trust my heart
Cause when I finally let my good intentions
Lead the way from the start and never run

The baggage I carry never misses a flight
Which is to say it pervades my plight
But who ever comes to the table, pockets empty

Yes in my defense
The stance I have to take
The only thing to help me make
My apology

Please take me back
Trust my heart
Cause when I finally let my good intentions
Lead the way from start and never run

Oh take me back
Trust my heart
When I finally let my good intentions
Lead the way from start and never run
