People All Over The World

Peter Frampton

People Over The World Reach Out your hand And touch each other People Over The World We are the same just different colors We have one life to live So much to give and so much to share There is love to be found Just look around There's happiness there People over the world Love without chains Like sisters and brothers Face each day with a smile And in a while sunshine appears You'll feel warm deep inside No need to hide, from danger and fear People Over The World Reach Out your hand And touch each other People Over The World We are the same just different colors We have one life to live So much to give and so much to share There is love to be found Just look around There's happiness there People reach out you hand. Reach out your hand
