My Head Sounds Like That

Peter Gabriel

The metal jangles as the key turns unlock the door, wipe my feet clean oh my head sounds like that

The oil is spitting in the saucepan I squeeze this sponge and let the cat out oh my head sounds like that oh my head oh oh oh oh oh

The water's dripping in the hallway the guy next door, he knocks his wall down oh my head sounds like that

The knife it scrapes across the burnt brown toast the freight train rumbles pass my window oh my head sounds like that oh my head oh oh oh oh oh oh oh oh

Around the axis we all spin to determine what's left out and what's left in what's left out and what's left in what's left out and what's left in who's left out and who's left in who's left in

The moment's come and go like water I try to hold them but they're fading oh my head sounds like that oh my head oh oh oh
