

Fallin' Apart

Peter Green

Now I'm sitting on the midnight train, I'm looking through the falling rain
Just thinking about the things we did, now, baby, where am I go ing to live?

My daddy says I was a fool, to try and settle down with you But one thing you did not know, was, darling, how I loved you s o
And I'm falling apart, I'm leaving with a broken heart I'm falling apart, I'm leaving with a broken heart Everything was going fine, if only you had toed the line
But we were on a stormy sea, now there's no one left but me

Now I'm sitting on the midnight train, I'm looking through the
falling rain
Just thinking about the things we did, now, baby, where am I go ing to live?

'Cause I'm falling apart, 'cause I'm leaving with a broken hear t
Yes, I'm falling apart, I'm leaving with a broken heart
Heading for another town, one that will not bring me down Speeding down the railway track, I wish that I were turning bac k
But I'm falling apart, I'm making up a brand new start Yes, I'm falling apart, I'm leaving with a broken heart
