

The Biggest Question

Peter McPoland

Hey, hey, hey
I went down to the ocean floor
I walked around but I wanted some more
So I swam to a bottomless pit
Kicked off my shoes and I went for a dip
Ah ah ah, ah ah ah

I went down to the center of earth
I slipped through the time warp and woke in the dirt
It was two-trillion years in the past
Or maybe the future, I didn't ask
Ah ah ah, ah ah
Ah ah ah, I say

What does it mean to be me?
What does it mean to be you?
I think you have to believe
Believe in something untrue
Am I the bad that I've been?
Am I the good that I do?
Answer the biggest question (ah)
I think it's all up to you

I stood and I found I could fly
The gravity switched and I took to the sky
I had conversations with girls
Inside my head 'bout the state of the world
Ah ah ah, ah ah

I was took to the city square
I spoke to the people all gathered there
They asked, "Who, what, when, where, and why"
Turned red in the face, and I wanted to cry
Ah-I. Ah-I. Ah-I
Ah-I. Ah-I, I say

(Ah)
What does it mean to be me?
What does it mean to be you?
(Ah)
I think you have to believe
Believe in something untrue
(Ah)
Am I the bad that I've been?
Am I the good that I do?
Answer the biggest question
(Ah)
I think it's all up to you

Bah-bah-bah-bah-bah-bah
Bah-bah-buh-bah-bah-bah-bah
Bah-bah-bah-bah-bah-bah-bah
Bah-bah-bah-bah

I blinked once and I'm back on the beach
With somebody's lips doing breathing for me
When I pushed back the kiss of life

They asked "Who, what, and where?"
And I told them all why
