

Model Train Town

Petey USA

I saw this town, quiet like a model train town
It was picturesque and beautiful
And I couldn't wait to show you

When we came around you didn't feel the same
You said I don't really understand this place
I felt embarrassed that I ever liked the town
I stubbed my feet into the ground

Heard you met some guy, at a party the other night
He was the coolest guy you'd ever met
He made you laugh and he smoked cigarettes
When we all hung out I didn't feel the same
He was self-involved and acting kinda lame
And I said I don't really fuck around with guys like him
You rolled your eyes and turned your chin

I had a fucked up dream
The whole world ended violently
The only people left were you and me
I felt relaxed and I felt guilty
I felt relaxed and I felt guilty
I felt relaxed and I felt guilty
I felt relaxed and I felt guilty
I felt relaxed and I felt guilty

And I realized that you were all I need
Let's buy a mobile home and sell all of our things
I'm still overwhelmed but this feels like a start
I laid my head upon your beating heart
I laid my head upon your beating heart
I laid my head upon your beating heart
I laid my head upon your beating heart
