

Goodbye Face

Pg.99

you, my friend, deserve things like spring as reference to your majesty. but nothing draws conclusion in the bones of your face when you've dismissed a kiss right off the lips and straight into the gutter of my life. here, where my body was left empty and tormented for years, caked by the loose skins of an oversized heart, finally worn too thin.