

Defining Moments

Phinehas

What is love without a cost
What is faith without loss
This is your price to pay
You have something to give, not just to take

I am not an instrument to be thoughtlessly played
Nor a step for you to rest your feet
I am not a precious stone to be stolen or sold away
Nor to be used like a weapon in a vengeful scheme
Love is more

Whether these words will be scars
Or written on your heart

You have a choice to make
Love is what is left over
When being in love fades away
This is your price to pay
Faith is more than just leaving
When every second is spent in pain
You have a choice

I do not lift you up for you to condescend
Nor do I promise you hurt will end
I do not agree to vows if left at the altar
Faith is more than a crutch for when you falter

You have a choice to make
Love is what is left over
When being in love fades away
This is your price to pay
Faith is more than just leaving
When every second is spent in pain
You have a choice

This is your price to pay
You have something to give, not just to take

Don't fear death
Fear death not knowing true love

Whether these words will be scars
Or written on your heart

You have a choice to make
Love is what is left over
When being in love fades away
This is your price to pay
Faith is more than just leaving
When every second is spent in pain
You have a choice to make
Love is what is left over
When being in love fades away
This is your price to pay
Faith is more than just leaving
When every second is spent in pain
You have a choice to make

Don't fear death
Fear death not knowing true love
