

Hey Stranger

Phish

It's all I know, findin' ways to stay
Hey, stranger, come crash for a minute
It's all I know, findin' ways to stay
Hey, stranger, come crash for a minute

I tried to fly in thunderclouds
With blind eyes, and touch the sky

It's all I know, findin' ways to stay
Hey, stranger, come crash for a minute

When all this noise gets turned off and you can smell the moss
In the pale blue haze, while we circle each other
Like orbiting planets, predictable and powerful
Two lost crystals in the black night sky
I've got music, so who needs anything more
To extend the time with invisible weight
Absorbed and unalterable in delirium
Sightly deceiving in living light, living light

It's all I know, findin' ways to stay
Hey, stranger, come crash for a minute

Yesterday, yesterday
I fell, and now I'm takin' backwards steps
It's all I know

Your hands hang by your side, and my advice begins at three
We'll build a bridge, some kind of machine
The hammer and the whistle that live inside of me
While morning clouds are chased off by the sun hangin' over the sea
Inhale the stars, 'cause that's what you will be Part of the lowering sky, eventually

It's all I know, findin' ways to stay
Hey, stranger, come crash for a minute

It's all I know (It's all I know, all I know, all I know)
It's all I know (It's all I know, all I know, all I know)
It's all I know (It's all I know, all I know, all I know)
It's all I know (It's all I know, all I know, all I know, all I
-)
