

A Light to Guide

Phoenix Effect

I know you're strong, yet I can see your frailty n' it's tearing at me
I maybe wrong, but there's nothing wrong with how I feel like your love has blessed me

Shadows fallin' soft as snow
I hear you callin' from the cold

I'll leave a candle burning in my window, oh my love
A light to guide you on your way home
A light to keep you safe my love

You say you're alright, but the rain it comes down harder
N' I see no shelter
Deep in the night, where the darkness closes over
Where a view's a traitor

I will promise, my light will show
Hold on to me, I won't let go

I'll leave a candle burning in my window, oh my love
A light to guide you on your way home
I'll leave a candle burning in the shadow, so you'll know
I will keep you safe my love

Surely as the morn' will come again
I know you will find what you're searchin'
I know you will find what you're searchin'
Let your weakness make you strong, fear a whip to drive you on Let my light guide you home
