

It's not a simple thing for me to say I care
And even harder still to know what else to share Seems I've always chosen to find my way by feel Like I always kinda thought it ain't no big deal

But I see it now 'cos you opened my eyes
And for the first time in my life
I know I'm really gonna try To make it somehow, I won't close my eyes
With such beauty to behold
I'd be a fool a thousandfold

You make life beautiful and the world a place worth living in
You I'd take the fall again, get up and never give in You make life beautiful and the world a place worth
living in
You I'd take the fall again, get up and never give in

Because you're magic, everytime feels like magic, I swear to God

I'm not big on bright ideas to change the world And what little I have to contribute, I'm sure you've already heard
But my heart knows how to always keep it real Whatever empty can goes rattling it ain't no big deal

'Cos I see it now, like a new sunrise over cyanide skies
Relight the fireflies
I'm here right now, I won't close my eyes
With such beauty to behold
I'd be a fool a thousandfold

You make life beautiful and the world a place worth
living in
You I'd take the fall again, get up and never give in
You make life beautiful and the world a place worth
living in
You I'd take the fall again, get up and never give in

Magic, everytime, magic Because you're magic, I swear to God I feel you like magic

You make life beautiful and the world a place worth
living in
You I'd take the fall again, get up and never give in
You make life beautiful and the world a place worth
living in
You I'd take the fall again, get up and never give in