

Find A Way

Phora

Lately I've been running from my feelings
I just can't explain the things I'm feeling
I've been drinking straight for seven days now
I think you should pull up to my place now
Don't run away, don't hide yourself
Don't say you need, somebody else
Don't run away, don't run away
Let's find a way yeah, yeah

I know I've been stuck in my own ways
Got a lot of demons that I won't face
Lying to myself like it's okay
Just got a lot of things that I don't say
I just want to be the one you run to
I would never put no one above you
Got a couple bottles, you should come through
Maybe I could find a way to love you, yeah

Everything you do, running back to you
I just can't see through your ways
I'm so numb inside, I wish you were mine
All these things I've tried to say
I know that you need me now, I know that you need me now
All these people want to see me down, all these people want to see me down
I don't want to waste my time, I don't want to waste my time
Baby girl you should hit my line, baby girl you

Lately I've been running from my feelings
I just can't explain the things I'm feeling
I've been drinking straight for seven days now
I think you should pull up to my place now
Don't run away, don't hide yourself
Don't say you need, somebody else
Don't run away, don't run away
Let's find a way yeah, yeah