

Low Sometimes

Phora

Yeah

Time will tell our love, if you don't trust me, then I'm fine with that Always been about you, I won't switch on you, I promise that I just know that if I leave, then you know where to find me at Taking you for granted and I'm scared that you ain't coming back
I think too much, I drink too much
But if I said I need you, would that be too much? Look
You've been puttin' the blame on me for some time
And though you movin' on and we livin' our separate lives
I just hope you know that I can't, hope that you fine
Hate to leave you in the past, if you need me, just ring my line
Don't put the blame on me
Stay the same, I'm just prayin' you don't change on me
'Cause you was there to hold me down when it rained on me, yeah
And it's funny how when they want somethin' from you, they start to come aro und
People are fake, they intention constantly switchin' up
But if it isn't you, I just don't give a fuck

I be feelin' low sometimes
Dealin' with this pressure on my own sometimes
Emotions, they don't show sometimes
I think I just need to be alone sometimes
Yeah, I be feelin' low sometimes
Dealin' with this pressure on my own sometimes
Emotions, they don't show sometimes
I think I just need to be alone sometimes, sometimes

Phone ring, it's you callin', it's 3 a.m.
I hit decline, private number, it's you again
I'm like, "What you want?" "I'm just tryin' to make amends"
That's what you said, knowin' you gettin' into my head
But I pick it up, hopin' you change my mind
Silly me believing that things are different this time
I wish it could work, but you really just crossed the line
You supposed to have my back, but you showed me you had no spine and Love we used to have, you wouldn't take that now
Said if it's meant to be, it would've found its way back now
But you complacent, you don't wanna take that route
I'm so tired of all these lies and all these fake-ass smiles
I said love we used to have, you wouldn't take that now
If it's meant to be, it would've found its way back now
But you complacent, you don't wanna take that route
I'm so tired of all these lies and all these fake-ass smiles, I mean

I be feelin' low sometimes
Dealin' with this pressure on my own sometimes
Emotions, they don't show sometimes
I think I just need to be alone sometimes
Yeah, I be feelin' low sometimes
Dealin' with this pressure on my own sometimes
Emotions, they don't show sometimes
I think I just need to be alone sometimes, sometimes
Yeah, sometimes