Mirrors

Phora

Look at you, yeah

You try to call me crazy
I could call you crazy too
Everyone is shady and the world is fading through
You talk a lot of shit but dawg let's take a look at you
You try to call me crazy
I could call you crazy too
Everyone is shady and the world is fading through
You talk a lot of shit but dawg let's take a look at you

Yeah
Things change, people change, nothing stays the same
I've got too many dark images swimmin' in my brain
I'm drownin' helpless in the deep end
And I'm tryna find a reason why I'm dead inside and barely breathin'
We live in a generation of kids that don't share mutual love
The only thing they have in common they do mutual drugs
Sally wanna be a dancer, Billy wan' be a thug
And I ain't perfect I been through shit, how the fuck can I judge?
You wanna know the truth?
Really it's people like you
People who point the finger knowin' that they fucked up too
Sayin' this person changed but never walked a day in they shoes
You tried to hide behind your lies but we see right through
And all these people try to be famous but really it's funny
Cause everybody thinks the only cure to sadness is money
See I watch people that I trusted take my happiness from me
I seen addiction and prescriptions rip my family from me
And I'm ashamed I take the same drugs and don't care where they came from
And use them to replace all of these people and they fake love
We let these people change us, and break us til' we can't trust
The devil paints these pictures and our blood is on his paintbrush, damn

You try to call me crazy
I could call you crazy too
Everyone is shady and the world is fading through
You talk a lot of shit but dawg let's take a look at you
You try to call me crazy
I could call you crazy too
Everyone is shady and the world is fading through
You talk a lot of shit but dawg let's take a look at you

I wanna know why there's people with no food in the streets
When billionaires sit on money bags they don't even need
Why people sign their lives away payin' for college degrees
Cause their told their education matters more then their dreams
But listen
Drug addiction, that's the real pandemic
Models doin' coke lines so they can keep they image
Niggas lyin' in they songs about the money they gettin'
And I could write a fuckin' book but I bet you still wouldn't get it
But lets talk about these people you look up to cause we have to
The ones that think they perfect that don't give a fuck about you
They post they pretty pictures and they see themselves as gods
But if you ain't double tap they pics they wouldn't be shit without you
But they think they above you

They fake this life behind a screen with nowhere else to run to
They broken just like you and me
These people you look up to, they caught up in this hell
And they don't even love themselves so why the fuck you think they love you?
Don't lose yourself by gettin' caught up in they schemes
I know girls that livin' nightmares but they call it chasin' dreams
I know kids that carry guns because they think it's what they need
I know killers who caught life sentences drop down to they knees
I know rappers who act like they rich but can't afford they lease
I know people screamin' loyalty but don't know what it means
I know for a fact, everybody dies and we all bleed
So who the fuck are you to judge somebody else behind the screen motherfucka

You try to call me crazy
I could call you crazy too
Everyone is shady and the world is fading through
You talk a lot of shit but dawg let's take a look at you
You try to call me crazy
I could call you crazy too
Everyone is shady and the world is fading through
You talk a lot of shit but dawg let's take a look at you
You try to call me crazy
I could call you crazy too
Everyone is shady and the world is fading through
You talk a lot of shit but dawg let's take a look at you