

Sourheart

Pig Destroyer

With trembling fingers I trace her jawline such a geometric mystery of celestial design her fragile lips for delicate grins to spite the sour heart within I count the freckles on her shoulders I taste confection 'tween her thighs