

Worms

Pile

I would never dream
Of blaming it on you
So please don't ask me
To stay any longer
Anymore
An odd but deep calm
Washes over me
And from this distance
I take in the heat from the glow
From your burning skin

It was never supposed to happen to worms like you
To worms like you