Intrepid

Pinegrove

Don't let it get to you, you said
Well I did
Take a rectangle, untangle your head
Intrepid

Would you bet your life on it darling
If I did
Well the way I spent my winter, I wonder
How could we commit

When the long road noise is loud and you can't hear the song go
And I'm out here with no real belief and no hand for me to hold
Up in the early morning for no reason again
Re-listening to your message and I held it in my head

Through broke signal like what type of world we wanna live in
Do we curl inwards or live long together in forgiveness
And you said, do we bend our lives to it darling
Then we did

If we learned to love ourselves better, maybe
We could commit
