

Reflection

Pinkshift

To pacify my mind
You bring from heaven something warm to waste my breath on
I want to wait my turn
Your favorite shadow wants to be afraid of no one

Now I only see the world in your reflection
Its only through your lens I let myself breathe comfortably
I will always know that what it is is what is meant to be
In your reflection

I want to be a savior
Fly to your castle in the clouds, am I too afraid to?
I want to bathe with angels
Your favorite shadow wants to be afraid of no one

Now I only see the world in your reflection
Its only through your lens I let myself breathe comfortably
Will always know that what it is is what is meant to be
In your reflection
Oh, in your reflection

Now I only see the world in your reflection, perfectly
It's only through your rose lens that I let myself breathe comfortably
Where in shadows we tend to keep our deepest fears and fantasies
I will always know that what it is is what is meant to be
In your reflection
Oh, in your reflection
Oh, in your reflection