

Burning Bridges

Pissing Razors

The dreams are so real, and the lies are so real
To be naïve to the almighty dollar
In our own minds could be our demise if we did not Believe in our mind and our power we see it all in the greed
And our progress denied
Our belief in benign to you
Faith within us adversity seen before
Now with the strength with our people we burn

Burning the bridges down
Burn them down to the ground

Do you believe in the death of a dream
How could you even allow it
We won't be denied by our own pride so leave us in peace
Rather than war this war will be fought with Hearts and our minds you will not win so don't even try
