Rumours

Pixie Lott

How're you gonna believe somebody else, over me?

Rumours, rumours
I never believe that you listen to the shh talk over me
Rumours, rumours
I never believe that the lies in your mind got you doubting me

Rumours, rumours
I never believe that you listen to the shh talk over me
Rumours, rumours
I never believe that the lies in your mind got you doubting me

I was so in love with you, never knew
The secrets and lies would undo me and you, oh
You were suspicious, doubted the truth
You listened to them before you thought it through

'Cause you could have had
Anything you wanted, anything you needed
And I could have been
Everything you wanted, everything you needed

When people tell lies, lies you believe them
Like Chinese whispers spread, now the truth is gone
Then people play, play, play with your feelings
If there's no trust then hey, how do we go on?

You were such a fool to think I mislead you
You should have put all your faith in me, yeah oh
The confusing starting with deceiving you
You listened to them before you thought it through

'Cause you could have had
Anything you wanted, anything you needed
And I could have been
Everything you wanted, everything you needed

When people tell lies, lies you believe them
Like Chinese whispers spread, now the truth is gone
Then people play, play, play with your feelings
If there's no trust then hey, how do we go on?

They say it's better to be talked about then not at all
Either I'm fascinating or you must be bored
Cause I'm bored of you calling, missing me
Being seen with you is like bad publicity
Believe what you wanna believe but you can take it from me
How're you gonna be my king if you're a gossip queen?
You say you're down on the street but can't sniff out a sneak
Here's a secret, you ain't got a chance with me

Rumours, people tell
Rumours, you believe them

When people tell lies, lies you believe them
Like Chinese whispers spread, now the truth is gone
Then people play, play, play with your feelings

If there's no trust then hey, how do we go on?

When people tell lies, lies you believe them
Like Chinese whispers spread, now the truth is gone
Then people play, play, play with your feelings
If there's no trust then hey, how do we go on?

When people tell, you believe them
Then they play with your feelings
