

Somebody's Daughter

Pixie Lott

Starts with a feeling, ends with a fall
That's got me thinking, did you love me at all?
'Cause I've been questioning myself
And believing someone else

When I'm lost in between all the lines
And I read them enough times
When I'm just on my own in the night
Trying to quiet my own mind
I wanna tell you that I feel it
Harder than you would believe

So before you go speaking, writing, lying all about it
When you're starting rumours
Remember I'm only somebody's daughter
I'm only somebody's daughter
I'm only somebody's daughter

Half of the story, half of the truth
So why is it all me and nothing on you?
Are you questioning yourself?
If you are, you hide it well

When I'm lost in between all the lines
And I read them enough times
When I'm just on my own in the night
Trying to quiet my own mind
I wanna tell you that I feel it (I wanna tell you)
Harder than you would believe (Harder now)

So before you go speaking, writing, lying all about it
When you're starting rumours
Remember I'm only somebody's daughter
I'm only somebody's daughter
Before you go screaming, shouting to anyone who listens
When you're spreading rumours
Remember I'm only somebody's daughter (I wanna tell you)
I'm only somebody's daughter (Harder now)

So before you go speaking, writing, lying all about it
When you're starting rumours
Remember I'm only somebody's daughter
(Somebody, somebody, somebody)
I'm only somebody's daughter
(Somebody, somebody, somebody)
Before you go screaming, shouting to anyone who listens
When you're spreading rumours
Remember I'm only somebody's daughter (I wanna tell you)
I'm only somebody's daughter (Harder now)
I'm only somebody's daughter