

Any Way

Point Of Grace

Setting out, what a child, my steps ahead of my mind
Not a doubt till You knocked me off my paradigm
Simple me, only trying to see You in the stained glass
I walked right past the unexpected

Anyway You wanna show me all Your glory
Anywhere You choose to speak, tell Your story
In the low or lofty places strangers faces
Anywhere, any way

Doubt that I would have found You there in Bethlehem
No surprise, You changed the world through fishermen
Good to know You would go so far to finally get through
That's just like You and so unlike me

Anyway You wanna show me all Your glory
Anywhere You choose to speak, tell Your story
In the low or lofty places strangers faces
Anywhere, any way

In the alley, on the rooftop
At the end of a rocky road, You don't stop
On a mountain, in a rainstorm
In the eyes of a mother with her newborn

In the back pew, at the Altar
At the well where You gave the woman water
In the chaos, in the holy, in the darkness
Anywhere a heart beats, anywhere a heart beats

Anyway You wanna show me all Your glory
Anywhere You choose to speak, tell Your story
In the low or lofty places strangers faces
Anywhere, any way

Anyway You wanna show me all Your glory
Anywhere You choose to speak, tell Your story
In the low or lofty places strangers faces
Anywhere, any way, any way