

Might Be Today

Point Of Grace

So you had yourself a bad break
I know that you're feeling down about it
Seems like the sun just went out today
But there's blue sky hiding out
It may not seem like it now but

Things can change in an instant
Grey clouds run out of rain
It's just the matter of time till it happens
Hey, might be today
Might be today

So just hold on to Him, He's holding on to you
There's nothing so wrong He can't make it right
Oh, this life, it taught me anything
It takes you up, then drives you down
You hold on tight, then write it out

You never know when it could happen
When the sun starts shining down on me
You look back at these moments
And see all He's brought you through