All corrupt just like you're scared and candle-lit.
I'll pretend the things that I have shared, I swear it doesn't matter what I say.
When there's something to compare it I will again
Or admit there's really nothing there, I should be clever witho ut that.

I remember you were thanking me for something I said
To your friend, it was a compliment, my mind was in the gutter when I said it.
Then you walked away denying me the civilized air
So come on and put your cards in Maybe on the second try you'll win
