

A Rose

Poo Bear

A decade is said to be long and afar
Yet it seemed to pass at a blink of an eye, an eye
Rushing through time, nothing could, could bar, oh no
The velocity of years which seemed to fly

Your charm, your wit, your smile, ooh, your wink
Yeah, these are the things that take me to the brink
The tenderness, caring love that flows
Our souls intertwined for all the tomorrows

Two hearts destined to forever remain, oh oh
Joined together through love and desire
The bond we have, never shall it wane
Not by time, or hell, no
It's blazing fire, it's blazing fire

Ten years have passed and I remember, remember that day
I gave you a rose for a memory's sake
All the years have dried that rose away
But in my heart it blooms in love's wake

Your charm, your wit, your smile, ooh, your wink
Yeah, these are the things that take me to the brink
The tenderness, caring love that flows
Our souls intertwined for all the tomorrows

Two hearts destined to forever remain, oh oh
Joined together through love and desire
The bond we have, never shall it wane
Not by time, or hell, no
It's blazing fire, it's blazing fire

I wish to tell you in so many ways
How fortunate I am to have you by my side
The years passing are but ripples in the waves
For this love will grow stronger against any tide

Two hearts destined to forever remain, oh oh
Joined together through love and desire
The bond we have, never shall it wane
Not by time, or hell, no
It's blazing fire, it's blazing fire