

Trying to sleep again, just for the sake of silence
So many skeletons but don't know where to hide 'em

Hoping it's all just temporary
Praying it's all just in your mind
One foot inside this cemetery
Hoping it's not too late this time

How does it feel to live every day
Holding on, but so broken?
How do you heal when you can't explain
Why your heart is so frozen?
But it's in the dark, you'll find a spark
To get to the other side
I know that it feels like there's no escape
But you're the reason and the purpose
I promise you, you're worth it

Shutting down again just for the sake of hiding
Keep letting demons in 'cause it's too hard to fight when

You're hoping it's all just temporary
Praying it's all just in your mind
One foot inside this cemetery
Hoping it's not too late this time

How does it feel to live every day
Holding on, but so broken?
How do you heal when you can't explain
Why your heart is so frozen?
But it's in the dark, you'll find a spark
To get to the other side
I know that it feels like there's no escape
But you're the reason and the purpose
I promise you, you're worth it

I can see it on your face
Every tear you can't erase
When your world falls down
Get off the ground
You're more than your mistakes
I can see it in your eyes
You're dying to survive
You're dying to survive

How does it feel to live every day
Holding on, but so broken?
How do you heal when you can't explain
Why your heart is so frozen?
But it's in the dark, you'll find a spark
To get to the other side
I know that it feels like there's no escape
But you're the reason and the purpose
I promise you, you're worth it