

Bruised Sky

Poppy

There's no hope to come for you
There's no one left to get close to
Too long stuck in my chest
Can't keep it under my breath

The only way to cope
Is to see you as a disease
Insisting to resolve
Resisting every prophecy
Get it off of me

And the moon is awake tonight
I'm collecting the names under the bruised sky

I know the ending, it keeps playing out in my head
And running around again
Don't try to tell me it's as good as it's gonna get
The feeling won't leave till darkness takes me, don't forsake me

How do I numb myself
When god is preying on the weak?
Instill the fear to fall
But it'll never work on me
Question everything

In the wake
Felt my whole world starting to shake
The cradle starts to break
And the red pools over me and turns to white

And the moon is awake tonight
I'm collecting the names under the bruised sky

I know the ending, it keeps playing out in my head
Don't try to tell me it's as good as it's gonna get
The feeling won't leave till darkness takes me, don't forsake me
Darkness takes me, don't forsake me

Bathing in the light
Fend for your final form
The feeling you obscured
Will force you now to learn
Bathing in the light
Then never say a word
Under the bruised sky
