

Guardian

Poppy

Ephemeral or eternal
Where is the divide?
They try to hold you till you spiral down
They circle, unravel
Trying to devise a plan to
Drain you to your peril
Then cast you back to the hell I used to know

When all the gods lose faith
The cities laid to waste
I will be there
I'll be your guardian
You're in my every breath
I'll give you all that I have left
But I'll be there
I'll be your guardian

Liars hang in shallow
Hiding from the light
And all the cowards count the hours down
There's crimson on the arrows
The modest dress in white
And all the villains taunt in whispers
Remind you of a hell you used to know

When all the gods lose faith
The cities laid to waste
I will be there
I'll be your guardian
You're in my every breath
I'll give you all that I have left
And I'll be there
I'll be your guardian

So keep your panicked eyes on me
'Cause this time we have is all we need to fight eternally
Eternally

When all the gods lose faith
The cities laid to waste
I will be there
I'll be your guardian
You're in my every breath
I'll give you all that I have left
And I'll be the one
I won't leave you now

When all the gods lose faith
The cities laid to waste
I will be there
I'll be your guardian
You're in my every breath
But I'll be there
I'll be your guardian

Through the wreck we leave it behind

I'll be your guardian
