

Sumatran Tiger

You don't have to worry
You don't have to worry
You don't have to worry
You don't have to worry

When I was tall, I was the tallest man alive
When my daddy built a home inside
If it gets too cold, I'll let you in
If it gets too cold, I'll let you in

As I became a butterfly
That's what the future's like
All the reasons are clear

I wrapped myself in colored lights
For the blackest night
Is the night that we fear

I was born in the warmest sunrise
Still colder than the winters of widows
When I found myself deep inside, yeah
Electric seas were the blankets that made up my bed

You don't have to worry
You don't have to worry
You don't have to worry
You don't have to worry

As I became a butterfly
That's what the future's like
All the reasons are clear

I wrapped myself in colored lights
For the blackest night
Is the night that we fear

There's no living warmer
Where we run
And where we hide
Is where we find

There's no leaving, my child
We will run
We will run
We will run

I was small, like the smallest thing you could find
Where you cannot see is just where I will hide
If it gets too cold, I'll let you in
If it gets too cold, I'll let you in

As I became a butterfly
That's what the future's like
All the reasons are clear

I wrapped myself in colored lights
For the blackest night

Portugal. The Man

Is the night that we fear

As I became a butterfly
That's what the future's like

I wrapped myself in colored lights
