

Some Nights

Prelow

Some nights it's enough
To catch you looking up
We meet eyes on the street
A secret we can keep
Some nights its enough

Late Night
100 degrees out in the rain
Long Lost Summer
Knew you wouldn't text me back
Going to drink away your name
I heard the saddest song on the way
I heard the saddest song I can't play
I left my home I should've just stayed
Closing my eyes and starting to fade
I saw you drying off on the train
I'm hoping that you'll look again
But I can't quite tell if it's anything, oh
I wonder if you're wondering
All the same things I am
How would we know
Then I saw you smile
My way for a while
And when things have been tough

Some nights it's enough
To catch you looking up
We meet eyes on the street
A secret we can keep

Drive sad
Listen to dark side of the moon
Late night TV
Wonder if you'll text me back
Playing guitar up in my room
I sing the saddest songs about you
I sing the saddest songs but they're true
I painted green but you saw it blue
I made a call that didn't go through
Turn off the lights to lighten the mood
And tell me how you really feel
Did we go too fast no steering wheel love
But tell me was it really real
But did we fall too fast like rain from above
It's like dreaming it up
It's your face in the sun
Its that thing you can't touch

Some nights it's enough
To catch you looking up
A secret we can keep

I'm a key you can't turn
A bridge that you burn

A song you can't sing
But you wish that you learned
You're a cab in the night
When I'm lost in the light
Let's go for a drive
What are we leaving
