You were raised up from the steam in the city Where your daddy dragged you 'round from place to place Now you're a grown-up, a cool guy looking pretty But the childhood had its mark upon your face

Now you're the hungry one, you want it all And enough is not enough, you're always coming back for more When the race is on you roll the ball You found your heaven behind the backstage door

You're all fed up
With their parental domination
Don't let them wear away your pride

Cut the wire
Jump the gun
There is nothing that's holding you back
Cross the fire
Hit 'n' run
You're forever unchained
Jump the gun

In another town, on another stage
You've been cruising around, for at least a human age
That rock'n'roll was your key to succeed
Your restless soul
Has taken off from the street

So if you like it now You'll learn to love it later Stick to your dreams, and go ahead

[Chorus]

And now you're up to front
A youth of desperation
Go out and penetrate their minds
You preach the words
They put them out in circulation
Get out, seek and find

[Chorus]
