

Old Enough To Know

Pretty Maids

We play the part and roll along
We know the sparkle shine has gone
It ain't easy it's not easy
I feel the strain I cannot breath
A war of words a battlefield
No feelings, no feelings

Building up a fortress
No one's gonna make the move
We don't wanna face the better truth

Can't feel the flame
Love's getting dim
We gotta realize the answer lies with in
No love remains we're running low
It's closing in
When it's over
We should be old enough to know
Old enough to know, oooh

I taste the poison from your lips
Sense a love that don't exist
It's dying, just dying
And the pain still grows
It stains the soul
We know it all to well

We're trying to hold on to some
That wasn't build to last
Hangin' in the shadows of the past

Can't feel the flame
Love's getting dim
We gotta realize the answer lies with in
No love remains we're running low
It's closing in
When it's over
We should be old enough to know
Old enough to know, oooh

No more verbal daggers
No more tears and no more shattered dreams
We're stranded here
All I see is dead horizons we lost the fire
Girl we are sliding deeper and deeper down in despair

Can't feel the flame
Love's getting dim
We gotta realize the answer lies with in
No love remains we're running low
When it's over
We should be old enough to know (2x)
