

Sober

Pretty Sick

The emotion I'm most familiar with is longing
The feeling I know best is wanting more
I'd like to trade my glutton soul for songing
But instead, I will remain singing whore

It's funny when mom and dad
Lost what they used to have
They miss it and they tell you too, too

Why are all my friends already sober?
I'm only nineteen years old, but I feel so much older
Yeah, my diet's been pretty steady
On alcohol and attention before I was ready

It's funny when mom and dad
Lost what they used to have
Miss it and they tell you too, too
It's funny when all your friends
Lost what they used to have
They miss it and they're missing you too