

Parallel Lines

Pride of Lions

Fire and ice, hot and cold, we always had a knack
For proving out the theory that opposites attract
We are two highways, you way and my way

Side by side, burning through the red hot desert sand
We share a one way ticket to love's unchartered land
And still we never come together

Look back, I can see the miles behind us
Can't we find a meeting of the minds

Parallel lines, parallel lines never cross
Go separate ways forever
Parallel lines, stubborn and blind
It always costs the very things we treasure
Sadly our lives are defined in parallel lines

Hide and seek, cat and mouse, in and out of sight
We're just a reckless caravan storming through the night
Lovers and rivals, out for survival

Look back, I can see the miles behind us
Can't we leave our differences behind

Parallel lines, parallel lines never cross
Go separate ways forever
Parallel lines, stubborn and blind
It always costs the very things we treasure
When will our lives intertwine, we're parallel lines

And if we try a little harder
To put our differences aside
And start to build upon our blessings
To the end and back again, forever we could ride

Sadly our lives are defined

Parallel lines, parallel lines never cross
Go separate ways forever
Parallel lines, stubborn and blind
It always costs the very things we treasure
Parallel lines, parallel lines never cross
