Parallel Lines

Pridelands

Your skin's so warm
Across my waist, you float
I quake at the knees
I can't let you go

Tossing and turning, we're spinning out
Hurtling towards the ground
It's inconsistent with characteristics of reality
But I can't determine how

We breathe in the mist
Through the reflections of light
Intoxicating release
I need you tonight

Fly, blessed catalyst
Let it all collide
Can you feel the inside?
Inside, can you feel the inside, the inside out?

I gotta push out, give in, collapse, rebuild it
You will feel their influence in time

And if I could, I'd save us from the rapture
I'd reconnect every synapse in your mind
And if you could, I'm sure you'd love to have it
(Blur it again, turn back the hands and reset)
But it's hard to bend when we're parallel lines
I said it's hard to bend when we're parallel lines, yeah

Collide with the sound
Our bones vibrate in the snow
So, you've got me all figured out?

It's not like I don't understand
You were forged for this, blessed by a holy hand
It's not like I don't understand
(Blur it again, turn back the hands and reset)
(Blur it again, turn back the hands and reset)

And if I could, I'd save us from the rapture
I'd reconnect every synapse in your mind
And if you could, I'm sure you'd love to have it
(Blur it again, turn back the hands and reset)
But it's hard to bend when we're parallel lines

Your skin's so warm
Across my waist, you float
I quake at the knees
I can't let you go
