

Broken Promises

Prime Circle

I'm aware of everything
I drew this line to start again
I was paranoid
And it seems it's true
all those lies that got us through

I swear things will be different,
I swear that things will be right
I swear that we'll have the answers
I swear this all tonight
I promise I'll make a difference
I promise I'll stand to fight
I promise you'll see the truth when
You just open up your eyes
Be honest to yourself

These broken promises to me
But I'm still standing
These broken promises to me
Oh be honest to yourself

Believed in things and all your views
And I did things you said you'd do
Now I see the shame in all of this
And now is the time to stop
All that I have missed

I swear things will be different,
I swear that things will be right
I swear that we'll have the answers
I swear this all tonight
I promise I'll make a difference
I promise I'll stand to fight
I promise you'll see the truth when
You just open up your eyes
Be honest to yourself

These broken promises to me
But I'm still standing
These broken promises to me
Oh be honest to yourself

And I'm aware
And I don't know
All this things did you just have them now?
And I just feel that you should say
All these things that you just wanna say

These broken promises to me
But I'm still standing
These broken promises to me
Oh be honest to yourself