

Trust

Prince Fox

Young, broke, bright-eyed
'Too trusting" written on my chest
Thinking that everything's fine
But really I don't know what's best for me
For me
I don't know what's best for me
Mmm

I dug myself deep, deep in this mess
Falling in love with one night to test
You and me both, both know it's me
Cause it ain't love, you can't trust me
Yea, you can't trust me
You can't trust me

Cause I don't trust myself
I don't trust myself
With trust in you
With trust in you
I don't trust myself
I don't trust myself
With trust in you

And I wouldn't trust me too
And I wouldn't trust me too

Cause I don't trust myself

No, I was fine, fine, fine
Everything was so simple
I had no time but I had it all
Now all I do is worry
About my trust in everyone
You know it's easier to smell the smoke
Than to stop a loaded gun

Cause nobody knows what happened
And I'd be lying if I said that I did
But I came with something and left with less than nothing
So trust just isn't something I give

Cause I don't trust myself
I don't trust myself
With trust in you
With trust in you
I don't trust myself
I don't trust myself
With trust in you
And I wouldn't trust me too
And I wouldn't trust me too
Cause I don't trust myself
I don't trust myself
With trust in you
With trust in you
I don't trust myself
I don't trust myself
With trust in you

Cause I don't trust myself
I don't trust myself
With trust in you
With trust in you
I don't trust myself
I don't trust myself
With trust in you
And I wouldn't trust me too