

Apotheosis

Project 86

We are the tower that pierced the sky
By this our hearts speak as one
As below, so above, as below, so above
By this we ascend and crack the firmament

We are the tower that pierced the sky
By this our hearts speak as one
As below, so above, as below, so above
By this we ascend and crack the firmament

We are the tower that pierced the sky
By this our hearts speak as one
As below, so above, as below, so above
By this we ascend and crack the firmament

This is the moment
Where we retake Eden
Revel in the beauty
Perfect in terror
A mirror of all that burns inside of every engine of men
Of these five fingers, a monument
The center, the monolith
A salute to the divine mark we bear
As we dig our nails into electric skin
To peel and desecrate the ink away
Black blood streams from wrists
As we storm the gates to burn down your seraphim
As below, so above
New heaven remade from earthly tear
Reverse, we engineer
In wire and feed and network and pinion
Once the author, now the forgotten
We replace you with an algorithm

We are the tower that pierced the sky
By this our hearts speak as one
As below, so above, as below, so above
By this we ascend and crack the firmament