

Firefly Without A Night

Project 86

This is the end of the world as I know it
And I'm so ready for the change
I've imagined this moment so many times
But never thought I'd go out this way

Remember me when your world is crumbling
Remember me in moments of ache
Remember me in pits of beautiful violence
Remember me like just like this

Into the unknown I drive
Like a firefly without a night
Into the unknown I drive
Your promises will be my light

I know this always meant something
Because we just won't die
I know this always meant something
Because my memory will survive
