

Bugs & Humans

Provoker

I've been in a corner
Watching your love
Give into a catalyst
19 in the ocean
Jumping over, shore break

Back then it was okay
Moving slowly
Brother and a confidant
Twin peaks we look over like creators
With power to annihilate

Bugs and humans all the same
Bugs and humans all the same
Crawl into a corner
Tell 'em that you had enough
There's a picture you keep hidden
It reminds you of another one
His hair, your skin

These days in seclusion, my illusion
Always leading me astray
Full grown but a baby
In my hayday, save me
I can't ever escape all the mistakes
That I always seem to make
Top floor of a hotel
Wishing solely for the power to annihilate

Bugs and humans all the same
Bugs and humans all the same
Crawl into a corner
Tell 'em that you had enough
There's a picture you keep hidden
It reminds you of another one
His hair, your skin

"I had a friend named, uh, Samuel, who is a pool shark, and uh, a delinquent, and uh, I guess he ripped somebody off or something and uh someone uh severed his head with a switchblade I think. They found it in the centre of the dragon. I guess that kinda changed the whole scene for a little while. I mean, these kids play where Samuel's head used to be and like, they don't really even - they're not aware of it, because I guess it was like maybe ten- fifteen years ago. And, uh, I guess that's a good thing, you know, 'caus you can't really have a memorial to his head, but uh, yeah, strange how certain places have different memories for different people... hey how doing? you know we found my friend Samuel's head back there in '86?"

"Cool!"
"Hahah"